WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The final phase of the presidential campaign opened today with the Democrats concentrating their heaviest fire in the states to the Eastern Seaboard, and the Republicans preparing to scatter theirs throughout the wide territory east of Chicago.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's speech in Baltimore tonight marks the end of his personal campaign in the west and south. From now until the end, two weeks from today, the Democratic candidate will confine himself to the east, where he will be aided and abetted by Al Smith.

Hoover Debates Program
President Hoover was still debating with his advisers today over the details of his personal program for the remaining two weeks.

He will speak in Madison Square Garden next Monday night, with a stop in Newark enroute, and he will make one final personal appeal for the highly important electoral votes of Indiana and Illinois. But whether this dash to Indianapolis and Chicago is to come before or after the New York appearance had not been decided early today.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New wonders why the nice weather we have been having for the past two days couldn't have started on Sunday.

Over sixty days until Christmas but Santa Claus has already appeared. Yes, Pa New saw him last night. He was walking down the North Jefferson street hill, all dolled up in his customary red garb.

Must have been a masquerade event last night at King's Chapel church or thereabouts, for Pa New saw a couple of young ladies dressed in brilliant colors and spangles walking along the New Wilmington road near there last night.

Two weeks from today is election day. It will mark the conclusion of one of the most spirited presidential campaigns in the last quarter century. Reports indicate that the trend of the nation in the past few weeks has been toward Hoover.

Report carried in The News last night of a couple of boys being run over when covered with piles of leaves on the street, should serve as a warning to lads to use more caution as to the kind of stunts they engage in. Playing in the street is not safe at any time.

It is now being discovered that a lot of the straw voters are not registered and eligible to cast ballots at the November 8 election, in various cities where the greatest stress is being placed on the straw ballot results.

Unemployment Has Improved Public Health Amazingly

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Delegates to the American Public Health Association's annual meeting today pondered the amazing declaration that unemployment on a grand scale has contributed to a remarkable improvement in the public health.
This declaration was made by Dr. Louis I. Dublin of New York, president of the association. He revealed in his annual address that mortality and illness rates have fallen consistently ever since the "Black October" of three years ago when the New York Stock Market crashed.
Has Brought Rest
Factors contributing to the phenomena of declining illness and mortality rates during the depression, as listed by Dr. Dublin, follow:
1. Favorable weather conditions last winter and summer, enabling many persons to lead an outdoor life.
2. Changes in the mode of life which have been forced on large elements of the people during the depression and which probably contributed to better health habits.
3. Absence of serious epidemics.
"There has undoubtedly been less over-drinking and over-eating," Dr. Dublin declared. "People have been less exposed to the hazards of machinery. Unemployment, much against their will, has brought them rest and leisure, more sunshine and opportunities for outdoor exercise, all of which play a part in keeping people well."

Car Taken From L. R. Dight
Near Plaingrove—Two
Held For Court

Patrolman M. P. Sarko of the state highway patrol, after an exciting chase late Monday afternoon, captured Frank Miller, who claims to be from Michigan, and Sam DiCuppo, who claims New York as his home address, and the car of L. R. Dight of Slippery Rock, R. D. No. 3, which had been stolen earlier in the afternoon near Plaingrove.
The capture was made near the intersection of Ray and Court streets. Sarko finally caught up with and compelled the men in the car to stop at this point.
Dashes For Liberty
As he did so and was in the act of walking around the car, Miller made a bold bid for liberty, running up Ray street. Sarko was right behind him and captured him at Ray and Oak streets.
Returning to the car, DiCuppo was found in it, having made no apparent attempt to escape. As Miller was getting out of the machine, he was seen to drop something, by William Quinn, grocer, and it was found to be a revolver.
The men were taken to the city police station, where Miller admitted having been in this district, principally at the coal mines near Leesburg, for the past month. There was sufficient ground to suspect the men of being possible participants in the attempted robbery of Fred Williamson at New Wilmington several weeks ago and the New Wilmington authorities were notified.
Not The Bandit
Burgess Florence Campbell, Chief of Police A. J. McCready, Benjamin Kaufmann and Ab Skillen, merchants, all of New Wilmington, arrived later in the evening. There was a standup of prisoners for their benefit in the hope that one of these two prisoners might be picked out as the man who shot Mr. Williamson. The men failed to bear any resemblance to the man wanted.
Miller claims that the revolver found is not his but must have been (Continued On Page Two)

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Oct. 25.—The pretty young red-headed woman who was murdered and whose nude body was thrown on a lonely road in the Mojave desert near here was the victim of a ruthless gang of rum runners who suspected her of being a "squealer."

That was the theory today of Deputy Sheriff George Contreras following verdict of a coroner's jury which reported that the woman had met death "from a fractured skull caused by a person or persons unknown."

The girl probably was tortured to death, Contreras said. He refused to declare why he believed the girl had been an "under cover agent" who had been trapped by the gang after she had fallen in love with a rum runner whose activities she supposedly had been employed to reveal.

Contreras said he was piecing together fragmentary information "from the Los Angeles underworld."

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—By order of President Hoover, the U. S. tariff commission today was engaged in an investigation of tariff schedules on 16 major commodities with a view to protecting a number of American cities from increased unemployment.
Currency depreciation in 30 foreign countries ranging from 5 to 55 per cent, the president wrote Chairman Robert Lincoln O'Brien, has reduced standards of living abroad "and greatly widened the cost of production between the United States and those localities."

The commodities on which Mr. Hoover thinks it may be necessary to increase the tariff are rag and grass rugs, brushes, electric light bulbs, cutlery, pottery, rubber boots and shoes, leather gloves, silverware, jewelry, canned vegetables, dried beans, iron and steel products, metal goods, canned fish, lumber products and chemical products.

ABOARD ROOSEVELT SPECIAL, GAINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 25.—Heading north today on the last lap of his second campaign swing which carried him 3,000 miles through the middle west and into the heart of Dixie, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt was determined to continue his attack on President Hoover's "doctrine of despair."

The Democratic presidential nominee was scheduled to arrive in Baltimore at six o'clock tonight where he will deliver the final speech of the present tour. It was hinted he would talk about beer and the federal budget.

To Stop In Capital
Fifteen minutes stops were scheduled at Raleigh, N. C. and Richmond, Va. The Roosevelt special was due in the National Capital at 5 p. m. where it will pause for ten minutes while the governor fires another shot at the Republican administration in a brief rear platform speech.

Party leaders have told the governor that his declaration against payment of the bonus until there is a balance in the treasury, and his proposal that beer be legalized and taxed to aid in balancing the budget, has "clinched" the east for the Democratic National ticket.

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 25.—An underworld drama with a setting of murder, bootlegging, hi-jacking and kidnaping neared its finale in New Jersey today. Three men are under arrest.

The bullet-riddled body of Charles Pfeiffer, 39, Camden, was found slumped behind the wheel of a motor truck near Bordentown.

A short time earlier, a bullet-punctured, bloodstained automobile was found near Oaklyn. It bore marks of a terrific struggle.

Then came the kidnaping angle. It followed a mysterious telephone call to a garage. Two men with a tow truck went to Bordentown where they found Pfeiffer's body in the liquor-laden truck.

One of the men, Harry Ervin, 26, Trenton, hailed a passing motorist and took Pfeiffer's body to a Bordentown physician. Ervin's helper, Joseph Lesko, Trenton, remained with the trucks.

MERCER, Oct. 25.—A victim of a desperate early morning gun battle with hold-up men who forced entrance into the Mercer-Greenville road gasoline station owned by his father-in-law, Charles Polly, 37, this city, was recovering today in the Mercer hospital from painful bullet wounds.

State police in Mercer and neighboring counties were on the trail of the intruders.

Last night's attempted robbery, the tenth night of looters since the station opened three years ago, was anticipated by the filling station's owner, Robert Harris, and so Polly, anxious to trap the thieves, stationed himself inside of it after the closing hour last night. The station is two miles from Mercer.

The expected visitors reached the place at 1 a. m., several hours after it closed for the night. Slowly and noiselessly the men forced their entry while Polly lay quiet nearby.

Like a flash, Polly illuminated the station and commanded the three to drop their guns. He held a shotgun.

Defying his orders the trio dashed to escape and turned and emptied volleys of wild shots in Polly's direction. Polly's shotgun barked back (Continued On Page Two)

Answer Is Filed In Controversy Over Pay Of Commissioners As Poor Directors

An answer to the citation awarded against former county commissioners, Calvin C. Boyd and Thomas J. McCullough, and former and present commissioner, P. O. Elder, was filed at the prothonotary's office this morning.

This is a case in which a committee of taxpayers claimed that the auditor's report and that of the county controller, showed that the commissioners had been paid $2,070 for services as poor overseers during 1931. It is claimed by the committee that the commissioners were not entitled to this payment.

It is alleged in the answer that the petition is not good in law, that the commissioners did not get the $2,070 jointly as set forth, and that there is nothing in the auditors and (Continued On Page Two)

"LAME DUCKS" HOLD SHORT SESSION POWER

Seventy Eight Now Included

Strength Sufficient To Practically Decide Prohibition Action

SHORT SESSION MAY NOT TAKE ANY ACTION

By WILLIAM S. NEAL, International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The fate of prohibition in the short session of congress, from December 5 to March 4, may be decided by "lame duck" members, a survey disclosed today.

The "lame duck" contingent—which includes defeated members and those not seeking re-election—has already reached such proportions that the group would wield the balance of power in a close vote.

The records of Clerk South Trimble of the house, two weeks before election, show that 78 "lame ducks" already are slated to serve in the senate and house.

Of this number of prospective "lame duck" members, 55 have been classed as dyes in the past. Should they cling to their belief, the drive of the anti-prohibitionists for submission of the 18th amendment and legalizing of beer would be greatly weakened.

The power of the "lame duck" contingent is recognized by anti-prohibitionists, who are sharply divided on the question of whether the session of congress will act on prohibition.

Two anti-prohibition members of the house, in the capital for a brief visit, claimed that wet sentiment is gaining. They are Rep. Campbell (R) of Pennsylvania and Rep. McMillan (D) of South Carolina.

ROOSEVELT TO SPEAK TONIGHT IN BALTIMORE

now to the Republicans—not even Vermont.

In a stinging speech at Atlanta, Roosevelt accused President Hoover of preaching the "doctrine of despair" and with having "squandered" $500,000,000 in a futile effort to stabilize prices of farm products.

He coined a new campaign slogan—"The forgotten market."

"We must return to the forgotten market on the agricultural population," he said. "We have looked beyond the seas for the riches that were lying unnoticed at our very feet. When we come to recognize this simple fact, when we get back to plain common sense, when we stop worshipping false gods and chasing rainbows, happiness and prosperity will come to American workers and farmers and business men—to the American people."

"When we stop listening to the apology that things might have been worse and give our whole-hearted support to those who preach the gospel that through action they are going to make things better, then and then only will America resume her march to a better day."

FINAL PHASE OF CAMPAIGN NOW REACHED

Hoover's making a dramatic trip across the continent to vote in his native California, speaking enroute at St. Louis, Denver and Salt Lake City, was still undecided. Four years ago he made such a trip.

Mr. Hoover has been subjected to considerable pulling and hauling over this Pacific Coast venture. Some of his close advisers have told him they consider such a trip absolutely necessary "if the west is to be saved." Others, equally close, have counseled against it for various reasons. Between these two camps, Mr. Hoover has not yet made up his mind.

Mr. Hoover's chief contribution to the campaign since his return from Detroit Sunday has been to carry the tariff issue more directly to the Democrats.

Twice in the past fortnight, Mr. Hoover has traversed the industrial cities of the near-east with a ringing defense of the Smoot-Hawley tariff rates, which have been subjected to unceasing Democratic assault in this campaign. He told audiences in Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio and New York that but for the protection of the high rates of the tariff act "your factories would now be idle."

Today, he followed that up with an order to the U. S. Tariff Commission to immediately examine a long list of commodities to ascertain if still higher rates were not necessary to protect them from the effect of depreciated currencies abroad. By so doing, he served notice on his critics there is to be no compromise and no surrender on the tariff.

controllers report to show that they received it out of the poor fund. It is also cited that in 1926 when the poor district law became operative, the question was raised to whether or not the commissioners were entitled to $600 a year, in addition to their salary as commissioners, for looking after the business of the poor district.

In order to determine the matter Thomas J. McCullough and Francis M. Davis, then commissioners, brought a suit against the County of Lawrence for the $600 additional pay, and decisions were rendered in their favor.

Since that time it has been the custom to pay county commissioners $3000 per year as commissioners and $600 as poor directors. In consequence of this decision and custom the respondents in the present action claim that the court ought not to award an issue and that the appeal should be dismissed. Arguments in the case will be presented later.

How To Get Relief From Catarrh

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, you should know this simple home treatment which frequently overcomes these distressing conditions. Secure from Eckerd's, of New Castle, Inc., or your druggist one ounce of Parmitin (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it a pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day, breathing should become easier, while the distressing catarrhal noises, dropping mucus and head noises, disappearing gradually disappear under Parmitin's tonic action. Catarrh sufferers find Parmitin just what they need.

TWO WEEKS MORE OF THE CAMPAIGN

A FORTNIGHT more to election—two weeks in which many thousand votes, heretofore destined to be cast for Franklin D. Roosevelt, may be changed to Herbert Hoover.

For the campaign, claimed in the earlier stages as certain to result in Democratic victory by the Roosevelt leadership, has of late taken a decided turn toward Hoover. This is admitted in the inner circles of Democratic management. As a consequence every effort has been made to command the services of Democratic spokesmen in the vain hope of riddling the straightforward speeches of President Hoover detailing the vast amount of work that has been undertaken to slay the dragon of depression.

Despite the fact that straw votes indicate Democratic majorities, the outcome is still uncertain. The Literary Digest poll, heretofore regarded as conclusive, is not conclusive in existing circumstances. It requires a super-imagination, for example, to foresee Pennsylvania choosing Roosevelt electors. It is likewise difficult to see some of the States given by the poll to Roosevelt going for him.

The reason is not hard to find. Unquestionably a great many citizens—it is out of the question to calculate their numbers—who declared for Roosevelt on the spur of the moment have since undergone a change of heart.

Roosevelt has not worn well. That is his trouble. It has been impossible for him to answer sensibly or frankly the statements made by the President. No one can do it. The Administration has carried on a determined program. Its opponents have never been able to produce one of their own. The people have been asking Roosevelt to provide them with the bread of practicability. They have received from him only the stone of theory, coupled with general promises. On the other hand, Herbert Hoover has devoted his time and all his energies to the creation of policies that not only promise but are actually achieving results.

Before the President took the field in an aggressive way the tide was visibly turning against him. His acceptance address was so sound, was a compilation of so many truths, and his speeches at Des Moines and Cleveland and again Saturday night at Detroit were so filled with common sense, with sane reasoning, that they must command the close attention of thinking men and women. The arguments are on his side. There is no convincing answer. There can be none. If sanity and appreciation of his unselfish services to the Nation were to prevail his triumph could not be doubted.

Unfortunately there is much in the minds of numerous voters that does not partake of sanity. There is nothing sane in holding Hoover responsible for the world upheavals. There is nothing sane in the cry that no one can be worse off, considering that but for the President suffering would now be far more intense and, if all the splendid work that he has done is to be subjected to the mere experimentation of an untried newcomer in the White House, it still may be. There is nothing sane in relieving a commanding general of his office when he is successfully waging a winning battle.

Yet this streak of insanity is abroad, and upon the breadth of it and the depth of it depends the outcome of November 8. This is why the election result is still uncertain.

PYMATUNING DAM—A RELIEF MEASURE

Many citizens of this locality have failed to realize the magnitude of the Pymatuning Dam project rightly comments the Meadville Tribune-Republican. Like many local sights, of interest to travelers from great distances, it has failed to attract many of those who could so easily avail themselves of a periodic inspection.

Within a comparatively short distance of this City over 1,000 men are employed in a tremendous State undertaking. Each of these men have families of dependents whose very sustenance depends upon the wages earned there during this time of depression. The project is a huge relief measure operating successfully during the past nine months and expected to continue the employment of a large number of men during the next few months.

Besides its relief advantages to thousands of formerly unemployed men, Pymatuning Lake or reservoir will have very material benefits to the residents of that section and more particularly to those residing in the Shenango valley.

Much of the water now draining into Pymatuning swamp at one time—thousands of years ago—is believed to have emptied into Lake Erie. At some period, however, the natural outlets to the lake became closed and new channels of escape were sought. A large part of the water found its way to the Ohio River through a channel now known as the Shenango River.

During all the intervening years, however, this new system of drainage has not proven adequate. Tremendous quantities of water have flooded the lowlands of the valley during the Spring and rainy seasons and the river and its tributaries have been nearly dry during the late Summer months.

In providing a more equal distribution of water the newly formed reservoir will serve as a needed relief to those residing in the Shenango valley. There will be no more flooded conditions and land in the valley will increase in value. Industries requiring definite volumes of water will now find adequate supplies throughout all months. Cities using the river for sewage disposal will now enjoy more healthy conditions.

For residents near the former swamp there is also a decided improvement. In instances, however, homes and farm lands have had to be sacrificed, but the revamped swamp will remove unhealthy conditions and enrich the community with a fine sandy shoreline on a large lake. Owned now by the State the land surrounding the lake will eventually become the site of playground facilities, a haven for wild life and perhaps the location of new industries.

The rain is no respecter of newly pressed suits.

What the country probably needs is any kind of cigar that will smell as good when abandoned as it did in the box.

All About Husbands
What They Like
And How They Are

By MARSHALL MASLIN
Husbands are funny. (I mean peculiar.)

Husbands don't like to wait on corners.

Husbands don't like to be laughed at. And they don't want you to tell funny stories about them in public. They have a vanity that is peculiar to husbands.

Husbands would rather not go shopping with you. Husbands wonder why wives ask their opinion about things and then don't take it.

Husbands must be treated very delicately. There are times when they don't mind being fussed over, but they never, never, want to be fussed at.

Husbands hope you will forget their moments of weakness and foolishness, and remember only their moments of decision and strength.

Husbands don't mind being "worked," if they are not reminded of it.

Husbands will do the dishes—and even boast of it—but they don't like visitors to drop in while they are doing them.

Husbands know they aren't perfect, but they do like praise.

Husbands don't like wives to check up on their activities.

Husbands like to feel they are free and untrammelled, but though they sometimes make thoughtless and cynical remarks about marriage they don't mean them.

Husbands think they know all about women, just because they are married to one of them.

Husbands are people who think their wives should remember where they put their keys.

Husbands don't want any remarks when they do foolish things while driving the car.

Husbands would rather you did not know how much they are influenced by their wives.

Husbands are sometimes babies, but at other times they are much older than the hills.

Husbands don't like to admit how much money they spend foolishly.

Husbands want their wives to be feminine, but not "helpless."

Husbands don't ask their wives to be perfect. If they were, they'd leave them.

I know more than this about husbands, but this is enough.

HOME PASTURES

Stay in the old home town, young men.

Time was when an honest, energetic young man with a real desire to work could get a job of some kind in almost any place.

That condition does not exist today.

It seems to be a sort of unwritten law in most places that residents of those places shall be given preference when there are openings.

The transient looking for a job does not have much chance.

Maybe things are dull and jobs are few in the home town but the same condition prevails all over the country.

If you are the right sort, you stand a better chance at home where you are known, than anywhere else.

Along the great thoroughfares there are scores and scores of men, young and old seeking rides to other sections where they hope to get work.

But place after place visited brings the same result, lack of jobs.

In the old home town, young man, you can probably find enough to eat and a good place to sleep.

The road gives no assurance of bed and board.

Other pastures are not so green as the one at home, so you'll find when you get there.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

AGE

Time cut him down, for he had ceased to care.

What glorious news the morning papers brought.

Of high achievements by man's courage wrought.

Or what of trouble must his neighbors bear.

And caring not, he lost the will to share.

The many burdens with which days are fraught.

Youth with its dreams, young hopes and rugged thought.

He looked on in amazement and despair.

Furrowed his face and bent his form became.

To him the young seemed arrogantly bold;

As men keep Rembrandt's painting in a frame.

The glory of the past he tried to hold.

Thinking cold ashes better than new flame.

And thus bore his time the man grew old.

THE HORSE—A FAITHFUL AMAL FRIEND

The horse has lived in all parts of the world long before history was written. The horse of early times was much different from the horses we know today. The early horse looked more like a dog than a horse; being only about one foot high, having four well developed toes and one partly-developed toe on each front foot, and three well-developed toes on each hind foot. The horse has reached its development as we know it today by gradually changing, and the changing conditions of the countries where it lives. Man has also made great improvements in the modern horse by selecting the best and by the best feeding and protection.

In the early times, horses were not used for work but were worshipped and were ridden in war. For many hundreds of years later, the horse was developed from the wild horse. It was used very little if any for any other purpose. In 1066 after Christ was born, the horse was first used as a farm animal.

The race of people called Arabs were the first to develop the horse. They were a people who moved about from place to place, called nomads, and tended their flocks of sheep, cattle and camels. They were in the saddle most of the time and were very fierce warriors, and therefore needed good horses. Many times they rode their horses for long distances at a fast rate; sometimes the horses must go a long time without food or water. You can see why they needed good horses, can't you? The weak and underfed horses could not stand such things.

These people needed horses with a great amount of intelligence. They means a horse that can learn things easily, because many times the horse was the Arab's only friend or companion and of course he wanted a smart horse. Their horses are noted for their friendliness and courage and great endurance. The horse first lived in Northern Africa, later finding his way to Arabia where he was tamed and improved. Arabian horses are small in size, and are bay, brown, chestnut and sometimes black or grey in color.

Johnson Stirs Speculation As To Result In California

Party Comments On Senator's Support Of Democratic Ticket Indicate National Study Of His Place In Pacific Coast Politics

Senator Hiram Johnson's refusal to support President Hoover seems to have been not unexpected, but his pronouncement of his reasons is more vigorous and determined than had been looked for. His reaction upon the public is favorable or unfavorable depending, in most instances, upon the party affiliations of the readers.

"California should be safe for Governor Roosevelt," thinks the OKLAHOMA CITY TIMES (Ind.), "after Senator Johnson's statement to California newspapers, which asked the eminent progressive how he stood on the support of President Hoover for re-election. Senator Johnson stated bluntly that he will not support President Hoover, and stated why. He is a life-long progressive, and President Hoover has proved himself an ultra-conservative. Senator Johnson still is a power in the state of California, and even before he spoke, the trend of public opinion in the Golden State apparently was away from President Hoover."

"The editors of the Southern California Republican newspapers did a public service in bringing Mr. Johnson into the open," says the SANTA MONICA EVENING OBT-LOOK (Rep.) as it declares: "The people of California now know where he stands. If they admire that sort of a public man they will probably have to vote for him again or to express their condemnation of his present course by voting against him." Referring to the Senator's statement, "I am a progressive Republican; Mr. Hoover is not," and the definition that Progressive thinks in terms of human beings; the standpoints has little thought or concern for them." "SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE

Kiwanis Troop 37 Ousts 'Veteran 15' From Rally Lead

New Title-Holders Win Crown
In Saturday's Meet; Many Take Part

Ideal weather gave the north district Boy Scout troops a fine setting for their fall meet on Saturday afternoon, October 22, and also saw a new troop roosting in first place over last year's champs, Veteran 15.

Troop Veteran 37, sponsored by the Kiwanis club and led by Dr. R. C. Lutz, scoutmaster, came through with three firsts and two seconds to annex the north district champ title.

It was well earned. Veteran 15 found itself sternly challenged for second place by East Brook 1, the scouts from up Neshannock way clinching with the First Christian troop for a tie second place. West Pittsburgh 1 came in next with V-17, V-18, V-13, veterans all, bringing up next in line and Croton 6 bringing up next.

Harry Cullford and Elmer Tinstman served as judges, with Harry Miles as starter.

The points scored:
Tent pitching—West Pittsburgh 1, first; Veteran 17, second, and East Brook 1, third. Time, 2:10.

Signalling (with deductions for missed letters)—East Brook 1, first; Veteran 13, second; Veteran 15, third. Time, 5:47.

Fire by friction—Veteran 37, first;

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

That package of mild Luckies

THE BLACK PANTHER

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the great animal painter, Paul Bransom... inspired by the natural ferocity of "Bagheera," the black panther in the famous "Jungle Book." "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

Eat Tomatoes "Kraut" Oysters To Stay Young

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—To stay young, eat plenty of tomatoes, sauerkraut and other foods rich in vitamin C, the committee on nutritional problems declared today in a report to the sixty-first annual convention of the American Public Health Association.

The lowly oyster is equalled or excelled only by liver in the amounts of iron and copper which it furnishes at an average serving, said E. J. Coulson, of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

Coulson's oyster experiments, performed upon rats, enlisted the aid of Harold Levine and Roe E. Remington of the South Carolina Food Research Commission.

Methods employed by health authorities to prevent a serious epidemic among the bonus marchers in the national capital last summer were described by James G. Cummings, chief of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases, Department of Health.

graft that grew rank under Harding, the stuffy materialism that thrived under Coolidge, and the inevitable disaster that has come under Hoover are all manifestations of the kind of politics that puts special privilege above equal rights, love of money above loyalty to truth, and the performance of machines above the progress of men.

As to the statement of Senator Johnson, the ROANOKE TIMES (Dem.) says of it: "It is by all odds one of the most important campaign pronouncements to date and will take rank in importance among campaign developments with Roosevelt and Smith. It will bring about Mr. Hoover's downfall on the Pacific Coast." The CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST (Dem.) agrees that it "may mean a good deal in a practical way as to California and perhaps over a wide region of the Pacific Coast." The SCRANTON TIMES (Dem.) says:

"Johnson's action appears to make more certain than ever that California next month will be found in the Democratic column." As to the NASHVILLE BANNER (Ind.) puts it, "In measuring the effect of Senator Johnson's pronouncement upon the result in the State, the fact must be borne in mind that he has a greater personal following than any man who has been in the public life of California since its admission to the Union, now eighty-two years ago."

"When one calls the roll of Nve.

Johnson, Cutting, Norris and Borah and finds them either silent as to Mr. Hoover or actively opposing him, one realizes the strength of the movement that is solidifying in the Western states for the formation of a compact liberal group, determined to free itself from weak submissiveness to policies dictated by, for and of the Northeast," asserts the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD (Ind. Dem.) as it sees arriving at last, "a West that is strongly untied, vigorously organized for its own needs, and respected everywhere for its courage and progressivism." The PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL (Ind.) praises Senator Johnson's letter, saying: "As a statement it is tremendous in its significance. It is mighty in its analysis. It is dramatic in its expression and is as emphatic as it is unanswerable in its conclusion."

But some papers upbraid the Senator as "ungrateful" to his party. Says the BLOOMINGTON PANTAGRAPH (Ind. Rep.): "While this action shows a characteristic Johnsonesque attitude, it reveals a spirit of political ingratitude that is unsurpassed." And this paper calls attention to the fact that "Johnson and his state have secured governmental favors beyond the widest dreams of almost any of the other 47 states of the union, and he thereupon turns his power of vituperation against the man at the head of the party which put him into his own seat of power." The BUFFALO EVENING NEWS (Ind. Rep.) thinks "Better an open fight than a continuance of the sham and pretense which distinguish those who, like Senators Johnson and Norris are seeking to destroy the Republican party." The HARTFORD DAILY TIMES (Ind. Dem.) notes that "Senator Johnson never has supported Mr. Hoover with any heartiness."

The PROVIDENCE JOURNAL (Ind.) asserts that "whatever may be the result of his latest essay in defeatism, we venture to believe that Hiram Johnson will occupy no such place in history as the quiet statesman in the White House who is the object of his sullen anger today."

Find Ritty Had Resigned Place

Police Officer Quit Force On June 26, 1931; Records Show

ROSS TO REMAIN ON FORCE, HOWEVER

Investigation of city records today showed that Michael Ritty had resigned as a patrolman in the city police department June 26, 1931. When Mayor Mayne was asked if he had knowledge of this he declared he, too, had inquired into the records today and found Ritty had resigned, receiving compensation but added this would have no effect on his appointment of Thomas Ross as a temporary officer.

The mayor said he did not know until this morning that Ritty had resigned under the Mayor Gillespie administration.

For some time the mayor has recommended Ross as a temporary officer to work in the place of Ritty. Asked what effect Ritty's resignation would have, the head of the police department said:

"None. There are vacancies and several other policemen are off duty to various reasons. I have the power to name a policeman for a temporary period and upon the expiration of the period to recommend him for another 10 days."

Ritty was injured while on duty. He was examined by physicians and according to his letter of resignation to council, under date of June 24, 1931, found to be injured permanently.

Ritty presented his resignation which was accepted by the votes of Mayor Gillespie, Councilman Treser and W. T. Burns, now city clerk but a councilman during the Gillespie regime. Previous to the vote Councilman Genkinger was excused from the meeting. Councilman Reeves was absent.

Following the acceptance of the resignation submitted June 26, 1931, council adopted a resolution which provided for the payment of $15.00 weekly compensation, as of May 27, 1931, for 436 weeks. Since then Ritty has been drawing the compensation.

At yesterday's council session W. E. Erk questioned the justice of the appointment of Mr. Ross. The mayor said he had authority to make the temporary appointment. When it came to his knowledge Ritty had resigned, the mayor said he did not know this, examined the records, found the report to be true but said regardless of the resignation he had the right to recommend and have council confirm the temporary appointment.

Genkinger Seeks Nice Elm Trees

Nut Trees Are Planted Around Lake At City Golf Course

Councilman Genkinger today went tree hunting.

He wants nice trees and today travelled into the Union township section in the hope of getting some nice elms.

They will be transplanted on city property.

A number of nut trees have been planted around the lake at the city golf course.

Trees recently were planted in the Seventh Ward park and a lot of trees soon will be planted in Gaston park.

Sportsmen To Meet Thursday

There'll be several reels of good hunting pictures at the Y, Thursday evening when the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association holds their meeting, according to President Andrew Dodds.

The area of Washington is 69,127 square miles, including 2,291 square miles of water.

Miners' Hopes Go Up in Flames

The destruction by fire of the breaker of the Glenn Alden coal mine at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., as shown above, wrecked the hopes of 1,800 miners for employment until Christmas. Many have been unemployed for months and the mine was about to resume operations.

The Squirrel Natures Appointed Tree Planter

By Owen Penfield Fox

It is fall, and the soft rays of the morning's sun shows up the beautiful coloring of the woods. Rows and rows of shumack luminous with crimson fires, Nature's magic brush has colored the ivy that circles the trunks of the big trees. The oaks are purple and the hickories with their leaves of gold.

The maples and the dogwood are all dressed up with their leaves of red and orange.

And while we are viewing all this beauty, Nature at this time has an army of workers that planting in her big woods, squirrels are one of Nature's most beautiful creatures, the beautiful fox squirrel, the grey squirrel, we love them for their grace and quickness.

The fall is the season of nuts, hazel nuts, hickory nuts, walnuts and butternuts and the acorn. The squirrels are Nature's greatest harvesters of nuts. They hide them in hollow trees, and bury them in the ground. This is the way they store them so that when cold weather approaches they will have an abundance of food. But many of the nuts that are buried by the squirrels are never eaten. Nature has work for all her creatures. But the fox and grey squirrels do a good work for if it were not for the squirrel family we would not have many nut trees in the woods. How would the mighty oak tree plant the acorn if it were not for the squirrel? But the Creator of all things has assigned to the squirrels the task of distributing the nuts, which later become nut bearing trees.

The red squirrel is not a nut planter, but is a busy gleaner of nuts. But if you were to find his storehouse of hickory nuts you would have a goodly supply. The red squirrel harvests his nuts by climbing the tree and stripping the nuts from their stems. He then lets the nut fall to the ground, and when the tree is stripped will gather, and then carry the nuts into a decayed log or tree. Then wet leaves are placed over them for a time. This causes the nuts to sweat and loosens the tough shells. This makes the nuts easily taken out. The red squirrel will not store anything but a sound nut, discarding any nuts with worm holes in them. When Mr. Squirrel is satisfied with his supply of nuts he will hide them in a hole in a tree, sometimes in barns and many times fills bird nests with the nuts. The red squirrel does not hide all the nuts in one place, but distributes them in many places so that if they are found by an intruder they will not be without food. The red squirrel is not the nut planter that the grey and fox squirrels are for the grey and fox cover much territory when they are harvesting nuts. They plant them in the earth wherever they find them. And each autumn hundreds of nuts are scattered widely in the woods. This nut planting lasts as long as the weather remains nice and only when winter storms come, and the cold winds whip the trees, the squirrel ceases his activities and takes to a den tree, where he rolls up in the leaves, using his big bushy tail for a blanket. He sleeps on in peace for has he not eaten the plentiful nuts when the weather was mild. But as the cold continues this causes hunger in the grey squirrel's body; he awakens, shakes his bushy blanket, and looks out his tree doorway. Down the tree he goes to wander over a land of white in search of buried food. Then after a time of hunting he begins to dig through the snow, leaves and earth begin to fly from those busy paws. Soon the buried goodies are reached, then he sits up, his big tail arched over his back all the while twitching nervously, and in his hand-like paws he is holding a nut that was buried in nutting time in October.

The teeth of the grey squirrel are very strong, and in a few seconds he has cut through the tough shell and is soon feeding on rich ripe nut kernels, and he will continue to eat until his hunger is satisfied. It is most wonderful the way the grey and fox squirrels locate their buried food, as everything has changed since the time the nuts were placed in the ground. They seem to have no trouble in finding the hidden nuts, for if you are about the woods in winter time you can see many places where the squirrels have fed. The wise grey and fox squirrels know the territory in which they roam, for nature has instilled into these animals the instinct that leads them

Bankers Confident "Good Times" Ahead

Bankers of Nation Refuse
To Predict Exact Date Depression Will End

Investment World Is Holding Back Until After Presidential Election Is Report

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 25.—America's leading investment bankers, in convention here today, are conservatively confident that it is only a question of time when normal prosperity will return to the country. But, in all their public utterances, they are studiously refraining from making any predictions as to when good times will be back.

"We frankly don't know how soon the depression will end," the bankers say. There are 400 of them here, attending the twenty-first annual convention of the Investment Bankers of America, and they are giving the most serious attention to the many and diverse problems that stand in the way of business recovery.

No Predictions. They are listening to speeches and reports on taxation, the railroad dilemma, government economy, municipal debts, balanced budgets and other problems of moment. But nowhere in their many and voluminous reports can anything be found in the nature of predictions regarding when business will swing back into its old stride.

The national political situation is being discussed by the bankers among themselves although it has no place on the agenda of the convention. One prominent banker informed International News Service that the investment world is marking time until politics is stabilized and until they learn whether the country is to have a new president or four more years of Mr. Hoover.

Interested In Taxes Many of the bankers today displayed the keenest interest in the federal taxation committee's report on the revenue that the United States government could derive in the event that beer was legalized and taxed. The committee said that a tax on beer up to 40 cents a gallon would bring into the government coffers the sum of $754,000,000 per year.

Taxation is a subject interwoven in nearly all of the papers presented to the convention. A substantial reduction in real estate taxes must be brought about, according to the opinion expressed by the report of the real estate securities committee, of which Louis K. Boysen, of Chicago, is chairman.

A saving of practically two-thirds in school time!

Each Vicks package contains full details of this unique Vicks Colds-Control Plan.

CAPT. HAMILTON'S CONDITION BETTER, SEAVY HEARS TODAY

In a letter today to E. E. Seavy, Captain Edgar Guerard Hamilton, local member of the French Foreign Legion recently injured in battle, writes that he believes the outcome of his wounds will not prove serious.

"I was unlucky enough to have my head drilled by a bullet two days after I rejoined my company but I think that I shall not suffer any serious consequences from my wound," he said. "I had however a very close shave."

Hamilton wrote the letter from a hospital at Casablanca, Morocco.

London Bracing For Invasion By The Unemployed

Report Fully 2000 Men And Women Are Marching Upon London Demanding Relief

SERIOUS RESULTS ARE LOOKED FOR

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Bracing itself for a situation brimming with potential dynamite, London today prepared for the invasion of the great army of unemployed converging upon the capital from all parts of the country.

Two thousand men and women comprising the humble and defiant, the physically strong and the weak and weary, violent radicals and the ordinarily peaceful—all were nearing London as a great mass united in demanding government relief.

The potentialities of the situation were heightened by the unlikelihood of the marchers getting the immediate relief they demanded. Abolition of the means test, which drastically limits the number who can obtain relief from the dole, was one demand in particular which would take some time in the granting.

The marchers' outright demands for food, clothing and coal also were expected to go to a great extent unfulfilled.

Boys Try New Trick On Motorists Here

Apparently the boys of the city are busy inventing something to startle people during the Halloween season, but often without consideration of the possibilities of seriously injuring some one.

The latest stunt reported was that of some boys in the Albert street district, who placed heavy large sized paving bricks across Albert street at one of the street intersections, concealing them under fallen leaves.

When struck by the passing motorist, they at least gave the motorist a severe jolt, if not causing him to temporarily lose control of the car or get into some other dangerous situation.

HOUSE IS RANSACKED BY GANG OF THIEVES

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Oct. 25.—Gus Taylor returned from a visit to Hazleton and found his house still in place, but that was about all.

During his five weeks' absence from the house, a gang of thieves methodically ransacked every room and took with them everything of value except some of the heavier pieces of furniture.

Every closet, drawer and room in the house was emptied.

WANT MONEY TO RUN BIG SHIRT FACTORY

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 25.—Jobs of 400 women formerly employed in a shirt factory here hinge upon the verdict of the Reconstruction Finance corporation in the concern's application for $60,000 with which to enlarge the plant. The company already is operating at capacity production and needs more space to handle orders being received.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover Gives Favorite Recipes

Simple, delicious food, simply served on a table decorated with the season's flowers or fruits—this is the White House plan while Mrs. Herbert Hoover is homemaker there. Guests at the rambling white mansion on Pennsylvania Avenue invariably report this type of entertainment. They tell of a bowl or two of flowers on an informal dinner table, and at Thanksgiving a centerpiece of red, yellow, and white ears of corn used with chestnut burrs, yellow pumpkins, egg plant, and green and red peppers.

Mrs. Hoover has favorite recipes that frequently make their appearance on the menu—sometimes at the President's request. Several will be published in subsequent issues of The News. The first follows:

Egg Timbales

1 cup of rich milk
3 eggs
Salt pepper paprika

Scald milk, pour over slightly beaten eggs, season to taste. Fill timbale moulds, place in pan of hot water, and bake in slow oven about twenty minutes. Serve in ring on platter, border with rice, fill center with a cream, cheese, or tomato sauce.

BETTY GOW RETURNS AS LINDBERGH NURSE

To Resume Her Place In Home

Will Reach New York Today
On Return Trip From England

SPENT SOME MONTHS AT HOME ABROAD

GLASGOW, Scotland, Oct. 25.—Miss Betty Gow, nurse who was in charge of the Lindbergh baby at the time it was kidnapped, is aboard the Anchor Liner Caledonia, due to dock in New York today, and will return to the Lindbergh home to take care of their second child.

This was learned exclusively by International News Service today from Mrs. Frank Taylor, Miss Gow's mother, who had heretofore denied her daughter would return to the United States.

Mrs. Taylor said Miss Gow had sailed from Glasgow on Oct. 16, booking a tourist class passage thru an agent.

The mother at first refused to elaborate on this.

"I can't talk to you," she said. "I've been ill."

After this correspondent learned from neighbors that Miss Gow was aboard the Caledonia, however, Mrs. Taylor confirmed it.

"Betty has gone back to the Lindberghs at their own request," Mrs. Taylor told her neighbors.

"They have been very nice to her, and gave her an extended holiday which she spent in touring Britain. She told me she was glad to be going back into their service."

There had been much conjecture whether Miss Gow would return to the Lindbergh home, when she arrived in England several weeks after the kidnapping, she was under great emotional stress, and had said only that she desired a long rest.

Later, after the birth of the second Lindbergh child during the summer, there were reports she would return to the Lindberghs. These were not definitely confirmed until today.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Betty Gow, who was little Charles Augustus Lindbergh's nurse, returned to this country today on the S. S. Caledonia after a long vacation in her native Scotland.

She looked very fetching in a brown ensemble, topped by a tight fitting pique hat. A sprig of lilies of the valley gave a touch of color to her dress, but she was the same sad faced girl who left this country several months ago to forget the horrible weeks when tragedy visited the Lindbergh home at Hopewell.

She refused to say anything about her plans and her only comment to questions was a worried "I won't say anything."

Hoover Tea At Y. W. Thursday

Women To Have Meeting To Hear Addresses By Women Leaders

One of the pleasant social customs that has sprung up since the adoption of the 19th amendment, is that of holding teas during national political campaigns. Hoover Teas have become popular this campaign and on Thursday afternoon, October 27, between 2 and 4 o'clock, a Hoover Tea will be held in the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. F. S. Breneman, vice chairman of the Republican County Committee announced today.

Every woman in the city and county is invited to attend this Hoover Tea Mrs. Breneman said.

There will be a program of speaking in connection with the tea, with the main speaker of the day coming to the crowd by radio. Mrs. Marion Scranton, of Scranton, Pa., National Committeewoman from Pennsylvania is delivering a radio address on a national hook up and a receiving set will be placed in the Y. W. C. A. so the women can hear her.

It is hoped that many of the Young Republican women will attend the tea as it is planned to make it a Get Together for them. There are no invitations necessary nor admission prices, it is open to the women.

Observations
In 7th Ward

Tearing down of the small frame building next to the bank on North Liberty street is bringing back some memories to the older residents of Mahoningtown. The frame structure until recently occupied by R. G. Gaspare and Son tailors, was purchased by the P. and L. E. railroad a short time ago. This was at one time the location of the Mahoningtown post office—or of the numerous locations. Dr. Robinson, who had a drugstore there, was a combination postmaster-pharmacist.

Later the postoffice was moved across the street. Then it went to

But back to the Gaspare place. Joe Daily once had a confectionery store there, as did Doc Robinson. Lou Anderson conducted a restaurant in the same building, and a wholesale house did business there before him. Clyde Conn had a confectionery store in the annex which was erected later. Right off hand it is difficult to say how many other business people occupied the location in past years.

Speaking of old times—do you remember the "Capital"? We are referring to the old combination depot and hotel maintained by the Pennsylvania railroad, near here. It burned down, (not many people remember the original building and another, exact duplicate, was erected. Later this was torn down and the Pennsylvania railroad offices were moved to the new building on West Washington street.

Many a local lad, some thirty or forty years ago, learned reading, writing and 'rithmetic in that one story frame structure located at the Clayton and Liberty street intersection, and also in Rex Lutton's barn. East Cherry street extension! Of course, the buildings were not in the present locations at that time. They were, along with a third small structure, situated at the present location of Mahoning school.

To make way for a new brick school (the one that burned down fifteen or sixteen years ago) the three rooms of the old school were moved away. No one seems to know where the third room went to—just another mystery for Holmes and his pal Watson, we guess. But we won't worry about it.

One last reminiscence for today—Do you remember the old Indian medicine shows put on here? Remember the lads who built the platform on the tree above the tent and had a real box seat for the show? Remember the time when one of the boards slipped and down they came? The next time the show came to town, the performances were given above Smith's hardware store on East Cherry street and there was no way to peak in there!

Smith Appeals For Roosevelt

Says Hoover Is "Commander Of Dry Forces Of Nation"

FORMER CANDIDATE SPEAKS AT NEWARK

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 25.—Alfred E. Smith was on the warpath today in behalf of the cause of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, and the Democratic ticket.

Democratic circles were reverberating from the fighting speech, the first of a series, delivered here before an enthusiastic crowd of many thousands in which former Governor Smith termed President Hoover the commander of the dry forces of the nation.

Smith branded the Republican platform as one of "broken promises, bigotry, deceit and hypocrisy."

He called for the election of Roosevelt and John N. Garner in order to return prosperity to the country.

Smith charged the Republicans with facing both ways on the prohibition issue in their platform and declared, in contrast, that the Democratic platform voiced a clear demand for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and immediate modification of the Volstead Act.

In alleging that the Republican prohibition declaration was "empty" and "does not mean anything," Smith added:

"The dry forces had read that section of the platform and they know that these men are not bound by it and that when they go down to Washington, they can do as they please about it."

It was an old-fashioned biting Al Smith campaign address with the 1928 Democratic standard bearer drawing the tumultuous cheers of the 17,000 persons packed in the Armory and twice as many outside when he concluded his battery as follows:

"Search your conscience, search your memory and see if you can think of one great public question that has been settled by the present Republican administration."

"I state to you from this platform that the best way to get our big public questions settled, the best way to bring back prosperity is the election of the Democratic ticket, the election of Roosevelt and Garner."

Smith referred caustically to "those rosy promises" of the Republican party in 1928 "that there was to be a chicken in every pot, that every workingman would have two automobiles and that he would go from the mill to his home with his silk socks on."

Regarding the Republican platform, Smith said:

"The Republican convention at Chicago, with characteristic hypocrisy, attempted to face both ways on the prohibition question. Had it not been for the office-holders that were delegates to that Republican convention at Chicago, that convention would have handed the United States of America as clear-cut a wet platform as did the Democratic National convention.

"But what did they run up against? They ran up against Hoover, who is himself the leader of the dry forces today in the United States."

Smith asserted that election day was the time to settle this question and that "if you don't settle this question on November eighth there is no use of holding any protest meetings in January."

Child Welfare Department Of Federated Clubs Urges
Wednesday Meeting

The child welfare department of the Federation of Women's clubs would call attention of the club women to the meeting at senior high this Wednesday evening sponsored by the Lawrence County Medical association. It is a very fine move on the part of our local physicians to bring into our midst those who can speak with authority on things that pertain to health and then to invite the community to come, with no cost attending, and hear and learn.

Worthy as the movement is, its success depends on those who will "come and hear." We urge the support of our club women who are alert to the need of physical fitness. An attentive, absorbing audience will mean a "wealth of gain" to our community.

Barry Has Fear Of Vengeance In New York Prison

Dapper Notorious Jewel
Robber Knows Swift
Death Awaits Him
From Former Pals

DOUBLE-CROSSER
IS FRIGHTENED

Enemies Of Barry Are Now Confined In All New York Penal Institutions

(International News Service)
NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 25.—The violent death he may find lurking for him when he is jailed
"for the book" in a New York state prison struck coldly today at the heart of Arthur Barry, captured arch jewel robber of America.

"The book," underworld slang for a life term, which Barry faced as a result of his arrest after his spectacular break from Auburn prison three years ago failed to scare the Park avenue raffles out of his stiveness as he remained confined at Newark police headquarters.

It was the thought of revenge that would be exacted should he be sent either to Auburn, Dannemora or Sing Sing.

At Auburn, he knew, were sulky, patient convicts hoping to even the score he ran up when he double-crossed them in his daring break for freedom three years after he promised a number of inmates to take them with him.

Want Revenge.
Barry was swept by ominous foreboding at the thought of being sent to Dannemora, where Boston Billy Williams, his former partner in thefts from fashionable Long Island homes, was imprisoned.

It was Barry who "put the finger"
on Williams when he was first arrested. He sacrificed his former pal in telling on him in a bargain which effected the release of his sweetheart, Anna Blake.

Sing Sing promised little more safety despite its cells and walls.
For the silent, grim-faced denizens, through their "grapevine" system of underground communication, have heard of Barry's "squalling." Billy Williams has friends there, and Barry knows that even in prison vengeance is exacted.

Plans Complete For Health Day

Expect Large Crowd At Senior High School On Wednesday Evening

Every citizen interested in warding off disease and adding years to his span of life should be in attendance at the State Health Day observance in the Senior High School auditorium Wednesday night, October 26. Sponsored by the Lawrence County Medical Society, and suggested by the State Health Department, the program will be directed at the importance of preventative measures instead of suggesting remedies for illness.

The local medical society has been fortunate in securing J. C.
Funk, editor of Pennsylvania's
Health and Director of the Bureau of Public Health Education as the speaker. In addition there will be other speakers, among them Dr. A.
W. Thompson of Youngstown, O., who will discuss "Vaccination, Quarantine and School Examination."
A film, "Working for Dear Life" will be shown as a part of the program.

State Wide Observance
October 26 is the day set apart for a state wide observance of State Health Day and the program in the Senior High School is an integral part of the observance to be held in the other counties of the state. The sponsorship by the Lawrence County Medical Society is their contribution to the general health of the community and they urge a large attendance.

The program opens at eight fifteen o'clock Wednesday night and the auditorium will accommodate over 1000 people. Because of space limitations however, children under 16 years of age will not be admitted.

Full military rites will mark the funeral of Charles Morosky, Castle Hills caddy, who died Sunday morning as the result of injuries received when struck by a golf ball Saturday afternoon. Morosky was a member of Troop F, and according to Captain Harvey G. Bintrin was one of the outstanding men.

The entire troop will turn out and will form a mounted escort en route to the cemetery. They will move as far as Court street, when the mounted men will turn back. One horse, without a rider, the saddle draped in black, will follow immediately back of the hearse.

At the cemetery the usual military rites will be observed.

Morosky's death is the second among the troop members since the troop was reorganized in 1920. Members of the troop have been requested to assemble at the stables Wednesday morning at eight o'clock.

To Live Under A Tree This Winter

A number of people who have been buying homes or paying a loan by monthly payments seem to think that having a house to live in is necessary—at least from what you hear them say.

They tell you, "I cannot pay any the month, as all I can do is to live."

That means they think that to "live" means clothes and food, and of course, a house is not needed, and we naturally expect to see them sitting under a tree this winter.

There is no family in New Castle who can be hired to live out of doors in the wet and cold for thirty to fifty cents per day, and if they want to cut out some "necessary" pleasure at thirty cents per day and put it in a small savings bank until the end of the month they need not be out in the cold and wet.

Get a small savings bank from the Dollar Savings Association for instance and see how easy it is to feel independent.

Triple Funeral For Victims Of Maniacal Fiend

Prepare To Bury Wealthy
Father, Mother And Son
In Huntington, West
Virginia

MESSAGE IS FOUND
EXPLAINING CRIME

Believe Morbidity Caused Wealthy Young Man To Kill Parents And Suicide

(International News Service)
HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct.
25.—A morbid note, "I have been murdered by a ghost, devil," remained today to tell why Thomas Cleveland Patterson, brilliant Yale graduate, poet and writer, yesterday killed his wealthy father and mother and then fatally slashed his wrists with a butcher knife.

"I wish to be cremated, homicidal maniac. I'm sorry," was added to his last literary production, written after he shot and killed Samuel W.
Patterson, millionaire coal operator,
and Mrs. Mary Cleveland Patterson, who was of the same family that founded Cleveland, O.

Note Is Found
The note was penned while young Patterson, who was graduated with honors at Yale in 1927, was slowly bleeding to death, the bodies were found at the Pattersons' fashionable home by servants.

The father's head had been cleaved
with a hatchet.
In explanation, friends said young Patterson had privately published a book of poems revealing unusual ability but that morbidity marked all his prose.

Mrs. Patterson was said to have been related to the late President Cleveland.

Triple funeral services were arranged today as the aftermath of the tragedy. Corner F. X. Schuler said there was no need for a formal inquest. W. T. Patterson of Ambler, Pa., a brother of Samuel Patterson,
and Newcomb Cleveland Patterson,
a relative of Mrs. Patterson, were on route here.

The father had rich coal holdings in West Virginia. He was a native of Elk County, Pa.

Italian Beauty Defies Il Duce

Here Is How Donkey And Elephant Became Involved In Politics

Why did the Republicans adopt an elephant for their symbol? And where did the Democrats get their donkey?

Someone would bring that up.
The question made the rounds of the Republican and Democratic party leaders of New Castle yesterday and remained unanswered.

So the reporter asked Miss Alice Sterling, at the public library. Hardly was the question popped until it was answered.

"Yes, I looked up the full particulars," the librarian answered, smiling. "Counclman Stanley Treese
just asked the same question."

Five or six large volumes, political books and encyclopedias were opened and the answer revealed. The Republican elephant and Democratic donkey were originated from the pen of Thomas Nast, a celebrated cartoonist of his time.

(International News Service)
LEIPZIG, Germany, Oct. 25.—The upheld the dictatorship of President

ing to the provisions of the Weimar constitution.

The court did act in favor of the ousted officials on one point however, authorizing the deposed members of the cabinet to represent Prussia on the federal council of the Reichstag.

McKay Relates Doings Of Local Interest At St. Cloud, Fla.

St. Cloud, Florida,
October 17, 1932.

To The News: Owing to our correspondent to The News, Mrs. Humphrey, sojourning in Pennsylvania, we will try to write a few lines in order that our friends may have some idea as to how we are standing the depression.

I will say that we are hit just about as hard as anywhere but we have one advantage, we will not have to buy coal. Of course we expect some cold weather but not like you get there and when we do have it, it will only be for a couple of days at a time. It is a very easy matter for any one to get wood. That is what is used here entirely. It is cheap to buy it but a person likes he can go out a short way and get plenty without much chopping or cutting.

We have been having beautiful weather for some time. No cool days yet and just enough rain to keep things growing nicely.

The orange pickers have started on the early fruit and a fair crop of oranges and grapefruit is expected but there will be a still better crop of tangerines. We took a drive out the other day and passed one grove of about five acres and it was some sight. The fruit is not nearly developed yet but the trees were so loaded that many of the limbs were on the ground. The trees can never bear the awful load. However it is this way with nearly all tangerine groves. The only bad feature in a case of this kind is that the fruit will not be large.

We are glad to see the picking season open up as it will give employment to a great many men. The packing houses will employ thousands of men and women and the mills will be in full force to make the boxes. There will be employment for men to cut the trees and saw them into lengths for boxes and haul them to the mills. So you see it means a lot to this state to have all of these industries going.

The fishing has not been so good this summer on account of the lakes getting very low. We had a long dry spell, the worst for many years. We have been getting rains of late and the lakes are filling up again. I was out with three others last week on a lake about 12 miles from here, which is called Lake Couley. We took our boat along and had a trailer hooked on behind the automobile to haul the boat. We had a fine time, caught 12 bass. One of the fellows caught one that weighed eight pounds. I managed to land a four pounder. We were all well pleased with our day's outing.

About four weeks ago we were lucky enough to get an invitation to Sebastian Inlet. This is where the Indian river flows into the ocean (some of our New Castle friends have been there). We were not long in making up our minds to accept this invitation. These folks had never been there and they wanted some one to go along that knew something about it and of course I knew all about when it came to that. I got them to ask another fellow to go who knew much more than I did, especially when it came to getting the bait. I knew this as he and I had fished together a great many times. There were ten in the party and they drove a large high speed Ford truck. We left home about 7:00 a. m. After leaving Melbourne, we crossed the Indian river over near the ocean beach, then we had about six miles of deep dry sand road. We arrived at the Inlet about 10:00. It was then high tide so we had to wait till low tide to do much fishing which was about 4:00 p. m. We caught a few nice ones before dark. We built a fire and made a boiler of coffee, fried fish, and had a grand supper. We were ready for it to. We had our tent and got it up and after a spell of story telling and fish stories, we rolled in for the rest of the night. We were all up good and early for the morning fishing. After a good breakfast we went after the big ones but they were not biting as well as we expected. We had some great sport, caught about 45 which were mostly sea bass. We had them weighing anywhere from 12 to two pounds. We sure had a wonderful time and all anxious to make the trip over again and I expect to be on the truck when they make it. This Inlet is the greatest fishing place in the South and I think more fish have been caught there than any other place.

On Friday, 14, another birthday had arrived and I was reminded of the fact by some of our friends and neighbors gathering in for a 6:00 dinner. We have a long table which we keep for such occasions as this. (By the way many of our New Castle friends have had their feet under this table so they will know what it is). This table was put up on the long porch and was soon covered with good things to eat as well as some beautiful bouquets. The most conspicuous of all was the large birthday cake in the center of the table. This was baked by one of our very dear friends, Mrs. Brown, widow of the late Rev. G. W. Brown. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slangenhof, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Small, Mr. and Mrs. Skelenger, Mrs. Brown, and Mrs. Daley and daughter, Margaret. This was certainly a great pleasure to me to have these friends with us. All spent a very pleasant evening and were anxious for a return trip which we expect will be November 17 in the form of a wedding anniversary.

Hoping to see many of our New Castle friends with us this winter we remain yours,

A. S. MCKAY.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

Saves $2. So Easy! No Cooking!

The best cough remedy that monkey could buy can easily be mixed at home. It costs very little, yet it's the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any drugist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and saves two-thirds of the money a family usually spends for cough medicine. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the gorm-laden phlegm, and breaks the inflamed membranes, clears the air passages, and thus ends a severe cough in a hurry.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine in concentrated form, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Jane and John, of New Castle, were guests Sunday of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Kerr.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. McKelvey and Mr. and Mrs. Wick Young of Youngstown, were guests Friday evening of Mr. and Mrs. E. Reese.

All those wishing to donate fruit or vegetables to the Jameson Memorial hospital are requested to leave them at the home of Mrs. D. E. Funk on October 27 and 28.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCollough and children, Billie, Jack and Helen of Monaca, Mrs. E. M. Hollis and sons Edward and Robert of Rochester, Pa., were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCallister.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Goddard entertained at a spaghetti supper at their home on Saturday evening. Covers were arranged for eight at an attractively arranged table. The house was assisted by her daughters, Julianna and Marjorie. The evening was spent in music and five hundred, among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ayers and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Clark.

Senator Davis In Erie County

Senator Davis In Northwestern
Pennsylvania Answers Mussolini On War Debts

(International News Service)

MEADVILLE, Pa., Oct. 25.—After a discussion by U. S. Senator James J. Davis of Premier Mussolini's demand that this country cancel its war debts, the Republican entourage stumping through western Pennsylvania was to move into Erie county today for a rally at Erie tonight.

"Why should we cancel these debts Italy owes us, with their tremendous expenditures for armaments?" Senator Davis asked a large audience during his re-election campaign speech which featured the rally held here.

"They ask us for forgiveness. Let them lead the way by forgiving their enemies. President Hoover, in advocating a worldwide reduction in armaments has pointed the only sane and logical way for Italy, for France, for Great Britain, to pay their debts to us."

Davis discussed the platforms of two major parties and lauded President Hoover's policies generally.

Arthur James, candidate for Superior Court, Milton W. Shreve, congressional candidate and E. T. Dane, state legislative candidate, also spoke at the meeting.

PHEASANT FLIES THROUGH WINDOW

(International News Service)
LANSDOWN, Pa., Oct. 25.—Unable to distinguish the transparent obstruction, a large pheasant flew through a window in the home of Daniel Nihen.

The bird tore the window shade into ribbons and upset a lamp while Nihen was showered with broken glass. He captured the winged intruder before it could escape.

The per-family cost of government is now approximately $50, which seems to answer those who say you get what you pay for.

Gives Facts On Sales Tax Forms

Use Of Sales Control Books
Being Offered Held Unnecessary By Metzgar

SAYS BUSINESS MEN ARE BEING MISLED

HARRISBURG, Oct. 25.—The department of revenue has no connection, official or otherwise, with the many tax service bureaus that have sprung into being throughout the state since the emergency relief sales tax act became effective, Secretary Leon Metzgar said today. Use of the so-called sales control books being offered for sale is unnecessary, the secretary also said.

"These tax service bureaus have no connection with the department of revenue or any of its branches," Metzgar asserted. "It is not necessary for any taxpayer to have the sales tax control books or forms now being offered for sale for reporting the tax. Business people are being misled."

"Ordinary accounting records which clearly set forth the facts are all that will be required by the department to support returns which taxpayers will have to file. The department is not asking those liable to the tax to change their accounting system. No special envelopes are needed for holding records."

"Some merchants who will not be liable to more than $25 tax have bought these books or forms. Why spend $3 for $2 or even a lesser amount for something that is unnecessary? In some cases bureaus advertising for agents to sell the books have gone so far as to insert in their advertisements the direct statement that all retailers must have them. This is untrue."

"Persons liable to the tax can aid the department by refusing to purchase the books or forms referred to and by reporting to the department of revenue or the nearest state highway patrol sub-station when they have knowledge of agents working in their territory who misrepresent facts. Don't spend your money for something you don't need."

Sentence Sermons

By Rev. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.

IT IS A GREAT TALENT

To be able to compel every trouble to pay its way.
To know how to say "no" positively, but pleasantly.
To be able to recognize the man who is going to "arrive" before he does arrive.
To know how to look for the compensation that is wrapped up in every pain.
To have the patience to wait for the truth to appear.
To so live that men try to be their best in our presence.
To be able to see the best that is always present in the worst.

BANKRUPTS NOT WITHOUT MONEY

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—Bankrupts, contrary to popular belief, frequently possess money and are generally the best prospects for insurance salesmen, in the opinion of C. Brainerd Metheny, of Iowa.

Metheny recently outlined to 600 insurance men here the best medium for business in the insurance field and strangely enough the bankrupt was listed near the top.

"Bankrupts are not supposed to have money, but often they do, and they realize very keenly the value of it," Metheny explained. "Safety is their watchword but most of them will speculate again with the return of boom times."

The close scrutiny of newspaper columns was also advocated as another means of obtaining "leads" on prospective clients.

COMPANY ADDS 100 MEN TO PAYROLL

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 25.—General Fireproofing company has added 100 firemen to its payroll and now is operating about 40 per cent of capacity, President George Brainerd said today.

The company holds a blanket contract to supply steel office equipment for government buildings and several projects now are reaching the state of specifications.

Among the specifications received Monday was one for the equipment of the new Youngstown postoffice.

Sharkey Wants To Fight Again; But In Boston

Heavyweight Champion Will Not Think Of Fighting In Any Other City

WANTS SCHEMLING AS HIS OPPONENT

By HYPE IGEOE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The 1932 heavyweight ballyhoo is on.

Jack Sharkey says the first defense of his laurels will be in Boston, take it or leave it.

Max Schmeling has a peeve on the Garden because he didn't get his money the day after his fight with Mickey Walker and Manager Yussel Jacobs vows he'll never allow his pretzel bender to box for the former 600 millionaires for many reasons, the principal one being that Bill Carey begged Mickey to knock the German in his (Carey's) lap.

Must Select Boston

Carey happened to be in the hub yesterday and during a confab with Jawn Buckley inquired about Sharkey's future plans. Jack is tied up with the Garden. Max isn't.

The bulky Buckley had a great load to get off his chest so he politely informed Carey that Boston would have to be the scene of next year's classic.

Hooley? You said it, you can bet your old friend Hype Sharkey and Schmeling will meet for the third time at the Sunken Bowl. Schmeling is the only bloke Jack can draw any money with, meaning $750,000 or more. I like Baer and Schmeling best. They'd pack the Bowl with the Yankee stadium thrown in for good measure.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Battling Gizzy's swinging didn't mean much last night to Tony Herrera, who won an easy 10-round decision at Pittsburgh. The Mexican hit the Donora lightweight at will. Gizzy was bleary-eyed on several occasions from the pummeling. He didn't win a round.

Fred T. Schweitzer was elected captain of the West Virginia university football team yesterday. In games played so far this season Earl Neale had appointed an acting captain. Schweitzer is a tackle and is a senior in the college of business administration.

Pete Zimmer, Chicago's best offensive weapon against Indiana last Saturday, has a wrenched knee and had for company Bill Cassels, who played tackle. He has a bruised shoulder. Neither will be sent into scrimmages this week.

According to those who watched Notre Dame trim Carnegie Tech, Notre Dame is a much stronger team this year than last season. They have developed their blocking to the last letter. Brancheau, right half-back, is said to be a better blocker than Brill and a great runner.

Joe Johnson of Hartford, Conn., center on Yale's varsity, has been returned to the infirmary suffering from brain concussion received in Saturday's game with Army. He had been released from the New Haven hospital but a turn for the worse came yesterday.

Gordon Chung Hoon, Hawaiian halfback on the Naval academy eleven, is out of the Annapolis hospital. He was hurt in the game with Princeton last Saturday. He was injured about the head. Rip Miller, coach, will use the same lineup Saturday against Pennsylvania.

If Pete Boy and Joe Brown do not meet tomorrow night in a four-rounder at the bowl Red Hutton, the high school boy, will take on Tom Farrow, student in pharmacy. Red is managed by Paris Cangey and Farrow is under the management of Jimmie Dime.

Depositors are again trying to figure out who will be the new manager of the Cincinnati Reds. About 15 men are after the job. The latest report is a revival of one of the earliest rumors to the effect that Jim Bottomley, Cardinal first baseman, would get the position. The new rumor is that he is not only in the running but is on the inside track. The rumor goes on to say he will be obtained from the Cardinals in exchange for Pitcher Silas Johnson.

Young Nebraska Gridder Dies Of Infected Bruise

(International News Service)
SCOTT'S BLUFF, Neb., Oct. 25.—Nebraska's second football fatality of the 1932 season was recorded today. Leland McIrvine, 16, was the victim. The youth, a member of the Minatare high school team, succumbed in a hospital here to the ravages of infection setting in as a result of a bruise sustained in practice several days ago.

This state's first fatality of the season occurred when Asa J. Mohr died in an Omaha hospital from a broken neck received in a game in which he played as a representative of his town, Central City.

Eintracht To Form Floor Team

Candidates of the Eintracht Singing society who wish to play on the basketball team this fall and winter will meet with Manager Fred Wetnschenk at the Eintracht club this evening. Last year was the first season for the Eintracht in the floor game. They made a creditable showing.

Fourteen Teams Are Already Lined Up For Church Basketball League

All teams who expect to enter the New Castle Church Basketball league this winter, are requested to have representatives at the meeting called for 8:30 o'clock Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A., according to an announcement by Henry MacNicholas today.

At the meeting held last Thursday there were 14 teams represented, and many of the teams that played last year were not present. It is hoped that a full turn will result this week as plans for the league are going forward quite rapidly.

The following teams signified their intention of joining the league at the meeting last week: Sacred Hearts A and B, Epworth M. E., Central Christian A, Wesley M. E., First M. E., First Christians, St. Michaels, First Baptist A, Highland U. P., Mahoning Presbyterians, Temple Israel A and B.

The following teams were not represented and should get in touch with MacNicholas at once: First Baptist B, Wampum Presbyterians, Ellwood Presbyterians, St. Johns, St. Pauls Lutheran, Second U. P., and First U. P.

A special meeting has been called for Wednesday evening by the Sacred Hearts to discuss the coming basketball season. The meeting will start at 7 o'clock. It is expected that the Hearts will have a strong team in the A division of the New Castle Church League. Officials of the Sacred Hearts are also invited to the meeting.

The officials of the club are: President, Tully Calazza; vice president, Joe Aiello; secretary, Jacob Chianotti; Finance Secretary Andy A. Venditto; treasurer, Louis Aiello; Sergeant-at-Arms, John Ross.

Church Floor Men To Meet Thursday Evening At "Y"

They're ready, 10 of 'em, all youths, imbued with the enthusiasm that goes toward good battles and when 8:15 p. m. Wednesday night arrives there'll be five battles at Castle bowl, the grand slam being Frankie Bojarski, Erie, vs. Mickey Duris, formerly of Johnstown, now of Cleveland. Frankie and Mickey are doctored for 10 rounds but unless we miss our guess there'll be a knockout.

Duris and Bojarski, lightweights, have been training steadily for two weeks. They've let out their punches and sandwiched in between their training were bouts. In one battle at Cleveland Duris battered Marty McHale for a decision and at Erie, the southpaw Bojarski knocked out Eddie Lord.

According to reports neither has any difficulty making the required weight is 139 pounds Wednesday afternoon. Duris trained with Ross Fields, the fourth best bantamweight in the world to thoroughly understand how to fight southpaws. At Erie, Bojarski trained with Joe Brown.

Here's what the managers say: Jimmie Dunn, manager of Duris: "Mickey is in fine shape. He is punching better than ever. I hope to see him win."

Jack Barry, manager of Bojarski: "Bojarski demonstrated a few nights ago he can punch. He hopes to knock out Duris."

Have K. O. Punch They'll arrive tonight or early in the morning. It is felt certain, however, that Duris will come in tonight. Jimmie Dunn has made it a habit to have his batter sleep at the scene of battle to avoid a cramping auto ride the day of the bout.

Duris has won more than 50 percent of his fights with a k. o. Bojarski has flattened 75 percent of his adversaries in a like manner. They're clever in their way but they depend mostly on the Old Sock to bring them victories.

Duris has not only one fight and in a return bout scored a draw with that antagonist, Bojarski has dropped only one bout since he received his baptism in gloves and it is reported he lost that 'go' because he under-rated his opponent.

Bojarski has had practically all his opponents on the floor. Among those he has met are Johnny Farr, Benny Bass, Al Martin, Eddie Anderson, Babe Herman, Charley Baxter, Ray Van Hook, Eddie Lord, Ray Collins, Eddie Reed et al.

Holds Canadian Title Duris has the Canadian lightweight title the result of kayoing from Eddie Bland, drew with Prince Saunders and beat Nick Lenrod, flattered Eddie Reed, drew with Battling Gizzy and scored at least a score knockouts since he started fighting.

Marty Toukamon, Cleveland and Young Terry, Akron will meet in the semifinal docketed for six rounds. Both have won from Vito Mangine. Toukamon has a knockout. Whether or not he can out-fight Terry remains to be seen. They will weigh 130 pounds.

Billy Mido of this city, a 122-pounder, will oppose Joe Boldin of Cleveland. Mido has fought some rugged opponents here and hopes to make a rushing fight against Boldin. Battling Terry, who once was a mighty good lightweight, will handle Mido against Boldin.

Billy and Joe are doctored over the six-round route, but the first two bouts will be four-rounders. Joe Brown of Erie has taken Al Hefferman's place against Pete Boy of Ellwood at 150 pounds and Billy Frenkel will clash with Bearcat Wright.

The bowl has been enclosed for winter boxing, so regardless of weather conditions the fans will be able to sit in comfort and watch the battlers decorate each other with gloves. The first bout tomorrow night will start promptly at 8:15 p. m.

New Castle And Jeannette Lead Class AA Loop

Five Of Conference Teams Are Still Unbeaten, Two Teams Have Been Tied

ONLY ONE GAME CARDED FOR WEEK

New Castle and Jeannette high are racing neck and neck for the leadership in the class AA high school football conference. Both schools have won two league classics. New Castle has scored 46 points and Jeannette has tallied 40 points. Neither team has been scored on yet by league teams. The other undefeated teams are Greensburg, New Kensington and McKeesport. The latter two teams played a tie game.

There is only one league game carded this week and that shows Washington high at Turtle Creek on Saturday afternoon.

Altoona Vs. New Castle. New Castle high goes to Altoona this Saturday for a game with the powerful Altoona team. Last week Altoona trounced Clearfield high 33 to 0. The Blair county team is one of the best in that district this season and they hope to throw a monkey wrench in front of the fast stepping New Castle "Red Hurricane".

The New Castle team has two league games to play here before the season closes; they are New Kensington and Turtle Creek. The New Kensington high game looks like the banner one of the year, and Turtle Creek will not be an easy team either, despite their two losses this year.

Following is the correct standing of the class AA conference, including games played Saturday, October 22:

Thomas Speaks In Pittsburgh

Socialist Candidate For President Makes Torid
Campaign Speech

HANDS RIDICULE
TO GOV. ROOSEVELT

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—Realignment of American voters into a socialist and capitalist party and complete revision of the constitution today stood as the program of political action endorsed by Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president.

Thomas carried his campaign into Pennsylvania with a series of speeches in suburban Pittsburgh which were climaxed last night with a mass rally in Carnegie Hall here at which the veteran campaigner outlined his political program after a sarcastic denunciation of both major parties.

Revision of the constitution under the socialist plan, he said, would have to include the popular election of the president and vice president;
proportional representation in all legislative bodies to include strong minority parties and judiciary "reform" to end the power of the supreme court.

Thomas accused the supreme court of "enacting its social prejudices into law under guise of interpreting the constitution."
"Imagine a situation where five old men out of nine can block the will of the people," he said.
After characterizing President Hoover as "not big enough" to have caused the depression, Thomas ridiculed Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate, for "joining the crowd who think that those who can't buy bread for their children can drink their way back to prosperity."

Range NarrowMeaningless Fluctuations In Stock Market During MorningSTEEL DIRECTORS
MEETING TODAY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The stock market went through a series of narrow and meaningless fluctuations today as the speculative community held to the sidelines pending the outcome of the U. S. Steel directors meeting this afternoon.

Even a break in grain prices, wheat and corn going down a cent a bushel each to new lows for the season, failed to shake Wall Street out of its apathy. Normally a slump in grains would have been followed by selling of stocks.

Rails were generally firmer, aided by the good showing of a new batch of September earnings reports. Gains were only fractional, however.

Drug was again heavily sold as the bonds of United Drug, a subsidiary, suffered a fresh break today. Drug sold down nearly 2 points to a new low on the move after early firmness.

Neither U. S. Steel common nor preferred gave any clue to the outcome of the directors' meeting. The former was fractionally better most of the time while the latter was off slightly in light trading.

Announcement that Chrysler was starting production on its new Plymouth was a supporting factor to the motor shares. Other groups were neglected. Bonds were irregular and cotton slightly higher.

Pound Sterling
Drops Lower On
London ExchangePound Sterling Drops To New Low Level For Year At Opening Of Market

(International News Service)
LONDON, Oct. 25.—Plunging to a new low level for the year, the Pound Sterling dropped to $3.29 1/2 on the London Exchange today after opening at $3.30 1/2, 1 1/2 cents under yesterday's closing quotation.

Financial circles professed to see no cause for alarm. And cited the forthcoming 8,000,000 Pound Sterling loan for South Africa as proof that confidence of the gilt edged securities market in Sterling remains undiminished.

The main reason for the slump, according to high authorities, is that heavy French withdrawals are being made in view of the forthcoming French internal loans.

At 1 p. m., the Pound was down to $3.28 1/2, with no indication that the government was ready to step in with support. Today was the first time the Pound had dropped below $3.30 since Great Britain went off the gold standard in September, 1931.

No Utter Motive
Financial leaders do not believe France has any ulterior motive in withdrawing support from the Pound, ascribing the movement solely to the French internal situation.

In reply to suggestions that France might be subjecting the Pound to pressure in an effort to obtain British support of American war debt repudiation, financial experts pointed to Paris dispatches reiterating that France plans to make the $19,000,000 payment due to the United States on December 15.

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 25.—Funeral services for Isaac Latimer, 68, who was believed to have been a victim of some kind of a stroke at his home in the North Ellwood Heights, were held this afternoon from the First Christian church with the Rev. H. D. K. Huber, pastor, officiating.

Local police with state and county officials reached a decision that death was caused by a stroke which caused him to fall and strike an iron bed post with his temple and head. There were blood stains on the bed post upstairs, on the stairway and in the kitchen, where he died.

Latimer was believed to have been dead at least two days before his body was discovered by Miss Elsie Sarver of Burnstown, who had arrived there at 8:30 Monday morning to clean house for him. He had lived alone except for a short period in which his sister was with him.

Chief of Police W. C. Morrison was summoned to the scene, who in turn notified County Coroner Orville Potter, Sheriff Frank N. Johnson and County Detective H. M. Lee. Detective Lee later made an investigation with Corporal Schmidt of the state police, situated at New Brighton.

Victory

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 25.—Coach Carroll's Washington junior high gridders won a hard fought game Monday afternoon at Lincoln field by a score of 13-7 after playing an exciting game against the Ellwood Reserves.

A clever use of the aerial game proved to be the winning factor for the visitors. The two teams battled on an even basis in the first half, in which there was no score. Then late in the third period Perett threw a beautiful 20-yard pass to Fullback Miles, who sprinted the remaining 10 yards for a score. Miles caught the fling at full speed in one hand. Washington place kicked for the extra point. The period soon ended with the visitors leading 7-0.

Reider rushed through and fell on it for another touchdown. The place kick for extra point was blocked. With only a few minutes left to play the invaders were leading 13-0. Then with only one minute left to play Ellwood began playing Frank Merriwell. Person threw a long 40-yard pass to Loccasiano and then as the final whistle blew he tossed another one to Pratt for 30 yards, who shook free of one tackler and went over for a touchdown. Person bucked the line for the extra point, making the final score 13-7.

Y. W. C. A. Has Proven Essential Factor In Period Of Distress

Helping our young women find entertainment and diversion is an essential factor in the work of the Y. W. C. A. in these days of distress, it is pointed out by Mrs. Howard M. Kirk, head of the Special Committee of the Community Chest and Mayor's Relief Campaign Organization, which will endeavor to raise $65,000 for the support of eight of our welfare and relief organizations during the next ten days. Mrs. Kirk is also a member of the Board of the Y. W. C. A. Below is a summary of her remarks:

"The International Institute and Colored Branch do much to increase understanding between groups in the community, in addition to the specific work done for and with the persons in those departments.

"In the former, through nationality workers much is done to help interpret America to the new arrival; aid is given through case work, help through classes to teach English, and in training for and ultimately securing citizenship papers, and also in helping foreign born to understand the advantages and advisability of citizenship. Club work means recreation and education advantage for your foreign girls and girls of foreign parentage while bringing foreign born parents to a better understanding of their children and their rapidly acquired American habits and ideas, and the other way around, is a definite item. Also we Americans have much of interest and beauty to learn from our neighbors from other lands, and such a channel of mutual understanding can have vast significance in our present day confused civilization.

A varied program to meet varied needs, a definite striving to recognize and meet the demands of the community, a constructive organization for character building, training in leadership for the development of civic responsibility and broader understanding between groups in the community. The Y. W. stands upon its ideal of practical Christianity and does its utmost to carry on.

"It is possible that certain of our citizens do not know what a home without funds and therefore without happiness, with every cause for irritableness, can be like to a young girl of today. She sees other girls having a good time, riding in big cars, playing golf and in general enjoying life. A very American recreation within her says 'If these interests and entertainments cannot be found at home, I shall go out and find them.' She need not go further than to say that the Y. W. C. A. staff, members and volunteer workers are continually on the lookout for a girl with these mental reactions. Thousands of them have been brought into contact with right thinking girls and women through the local Y. W. C. A. within the last year, and we do not think it necessary to throw any reflection on them or others by stressing what might have happened not only to New Castle of today but to New Castle of tomorrow when these women will be the mothers upon which this community must look for its decency, integrity and perpetuity."

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

This is a year when dahlias growers have had plenty of opportunity to demonstrate their skill. A late fall and little frost has brought the beauties out in profusion and for size and color there have been few seasons to compare.

Up on Carlisle street between Hazelcroft and Edgewood there is a dahlia garden that just about knocks the collar off anything in the county. The size of the garden, the size of the individual blooms and the colors there are something that makes an amateur gardener like ourselves want to change the subject.

Talked with an interesting chap last night, W. D. Logan of Young street, who has just got back from a seven-year term of service with the marines. The old phrase "tell it to the marines" didn't fit last night for he did all the telling and was it interesting.

Two and a half years were spent in China, with the Legation Guard in Peking (Peiping to you) and he brought back a flock of pictures that tell their own story. Coolies and beggars and marble statues of animals. Pagodas and rickshaws and the great wall that looks out over the Gobi desert.

Some of the souvenirs he brought back are exquisite examples of Chinese handiwork, and after listening to him for a couple of hours, we came to the conclusion that there was one mame that didn't waste his idle time in sleeping in China.

And some day if we ever get that bundle and have plenty of time, we figure on making that trip to China, and then on down to the Straits Settlement and Siam, and Bala and on to Rangoon, with stops over or back at Tahiti and Pago Pago. All we need is the time and money. We've always had the inclination.

Doc Wallace is wondering just how coppery a copperhead snake looks. He found a queer looking snake in his back yard that doesn't look like a garter snake and certainly wasn't a rattler. Somebody suggested that it looked like a copperhead which we hope is all wrong.

Some of the married men on the police force are flirting with single girls these mornings, blondes and brunettes and red heads. And the flirtation goes on openly every morning usually at the intersections of Rose avenue and East Washington and Harrison and East Washington.

Between 8:15 and 8:50 officers are on duty guiding the youngsters across and there must be some compensation to the fellows on duty to have that gang of smiling faces go by and say good morning. And perhaps the wives of the officers won't feel badly when we tell them that the single girls who are flirting with their husbands are from six to 12 years of age.

Artist Evangelist Illustrates Sermon

Evangelist B. T. Duncan Draws Theme Picture As He Delivers Nightly Sermon

The evangelistic services being held in the First Pentecostal church, of which Rev. John Kellner is pastor, are proving of unusual interest inasmuch as they are unique in nature.

The evangelist, Dr. B. T. Duncan, is an artist of great ability and as he delivers his discourse he draws a picture, life size, to illustrate his theme. Monday night he spoke on "Miracles" and as he talked he drew Christ Walking on the Water, grasping Peter by the hand, bringing out vividly how the hand of Christ can save one from perishing.

The prayers were offered by Rev. Gordon Bender of Buffalo, N. Y., and Rev. Norman Spong of Erie. Miss Elizabeth Hatcher sang "List to the Voice."

This evening the sermon will be on the visit of the wise men and will be illustrated by an appropriate picture. The services are held nightly at 7:30.

Swindler Nabbed In Pittsburgh As Result Of Expose

Woman Becomes Suspicious And Investigation Leads To Arrest Of Chicago Man

SWINDLER GOES TO JAIL CELL

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—Suspicion of a woman today had brought about the arrest of a man police described as a clever Chicago confidence man and an expose of an alleged mammoth swindle plot designed to mulct thousands of Penn. Central Power & Light Company stockholders out of their stock.

The man under arrest was George Morancy, alias Fitzgerald, Ryne, and G. R. Blake. He was remanded to jail in default of $10,000 bail on charges of false pretense and violation of the state securities act.

County detectives said Morancy had been promising the Utility Company stockholders to exchange their stock for bonds of the concern. He had letters of identification from J. H. Shearer, Altoona, vice-president of the company, asking stockholders to turn over their stock to Morancy.

Suspicion Aroused
Morancy was quoted by police as admitting he had worked his scheme in Pittsburgh more than a week. The man refused to implicate anyone else in the racket but police were working on the theory that a gang of swindlers is involved.

Morancy was arrested as a result of the suspicious nature of Mrs. O. V. Stewart of Wilkesburg. Mrs. Stewart refused to participate in Morancy's scheme and told her husband of his proposition. Stewart communicated with Shearer who immediately notified police.

Rotarians Aid Band Trip Fund

New Castle Senior High Band Will Go To Altoona Game Saturday

You can always depend upon a Rotarian to give you a lift. "He profits most who serves best" is their motto and they live up to it. Following their usual policy of helpfulness the Rotarians gave a substantial lift to the fund now being raised to send the Senior High School band to Altoona next Saturday, the sum raised at the Monday meeting of the club being $26.65.

This fund is being raised by small donations. No large contributions are wanted for the total needed amounts to but $225. The contribution of the Rotarians on Monday brings the total to within $60 of the amount needed and the band boys feel sure that this will be forthcoming before Thursday morning.

The plan is to send the band over the mountains to Altoona by bus. It may be necessary to send ten or a dozen of them by private automobile, and any motorist who is going to the game and cares to carry a band boy along, can get part of his expenses paid if he will get in touch with Frank L. Orth, principal of the Senior High School.
